Linda & Tony

December 31, 2007

Since their first date had been on a New Year's Eve, Linda Trevor and Tony Gilliam decided that December 31st would be the perfect date for their wedding. The couple chose The Carolina Inn as the ideal venue for their elegant celebration. Linda, a local realtor, and Tony, a UNC radio announcer, both busy professionals who wanted help with wedding details, contacted Adams and Events for assistance.

The couple decided on a themed event entirely in black and white, from the décor and florals to the wedding party and guests' attire. The cool winter evening was warmed by an abundance of candles inside and outside HillSong Church, and the ceremony was one of faith, fellowship and love, with many friends and family members participating.

The reception was held in the Old Well wing of The Carolina Inn, where Linda and Tony's 250 guests were invited to enjoy heavy hors d'oeuvres, mingle about in several rooms, and even to participate in karaoke. Noisemakers, hats and feather boas were distributed to all to help ring in the New Year, following a stroke-of-midnight toast by the Groom. As the enchanted evening drew to a close, guests showered Linda and Tony with black and white feathers. The couple hosted a hearty Carolina Inn brunch on New Year's Day before departing on their honeymoon.
